Foreword

Licenses, certificates or permits are required by New York State law for personnel to engage in certain types of work. People involved in these occupations must meet reasonable performance levels as regulated by government-determined standards.

The regulation of occupational standards may be the domain of Federal, State or local governments. In some instances, trade or professional organizations define the minimal requirements for their domain.

McKinney's Consolidated Laws of New York State, published by the Edward Thompson Company, Brooklyn, New York is the definitive work regarding licenses issued by towns, villages, cities, counties and the State. This publication should be consulted for detailed information.

The following directory was prepared to be a ready aid to those seeking employment and/or to those involved in the counselling of students and potential workers. All of the departments within New York State government were contacted and requested to list those occupations that required by law some form of certification.

It is anticipated that the information in this document will be revised every third year. It is also expected that many users presently have additional information regarding some of the sources named in their private files. In order to add to the flexibility and usefulness of the report the binder format was adopted for reproduction.

Occupations Requiring

Licenses, Certificates, Permits

or Union Cards from

Nongovernmental Agencies

Many occupations require certification involving surveillance of a trade, professional or scientific society or association. The recognition or knowledge concerning such credentials oft times is limited to those people engaged in the pursuit of the specific occupation.

The following list is the result of an initial attempt to "discover" or "uncover" the various occupations effected by credential requirements other than those mandated by the governmental agencies of the State of New York. It is readily acknowledged that the listing below is far from comprehensive. It is anticipated that as more data becomes available an addendum will be printed.

The names of associations, unions, societies, guilds, etc., were garnered from various resource personnel. Appendix A contains copies of the cover letter and the instrument mailed to each reference. One attempt (one mailing) was made to reach organizations. Organizations whose materials were returned marked "address unknown" or "not forwardable" are noted on the final page of the text.

The data reflects the responses as indicated on the forms by the respondents. In this section the accrediting sources are listed alphabetically. The arabic number appearing in the lower right corner of each resource box is the "key" to the last section.

The final pages of the report list: 1) the job titles reported - alphabetized and cross referenced, 2) an indication of the type of credential available, and 3) the credential issuing agency and its address designated by the arabic number.

ASSOCIATE COMMISSIONER FOR RESEARCH AND EVALUATION

DIVISION OF RESEARCH
BUREAU OF OCCUPATIONAL EDUCATION RESEARC
518 474-6386

Dear Sir:

It has come to our attention that many occupations require certification involving surveillance of a trade, professional and scientific society. There does not seem to be a comprehensive directory of occupations for which such a credential (certificate, permit, union card, etc.) is available from other than governmental agencies. Thus the Bureau of Occupational Education Research is undertaking to survey as many occupationally related organizations in New York as possible to discover the various forms of accreditation.

Your help will be greatly appreciated. Please

1) respond to the enclosed form and

2) where feasible send us a copy of the literature, forms, etc. that would be mailed to an individual interested in qualifying for entrance into your occupational field.

Upon completion of the survey, a copy of the occupational directory will be disseminated to cooperating associations. Thank you for assisting in this research endeavor.

Sincerely,

G. Geraldine Dickson
